Taylor Park Ribbon Cutting in Duluth, Georgia

DULUTH, GA - October 24, 2009 - The Planning and Design Studio staff developed the initial design of the playground for Duluth's Taylor Park as a pro-bono project working with Duluth Parks and Recreation Board. Many design elements, particularly related to the train theme, were incorporated into the final plans. Jay Scott, Director of the Planning and Design Studio said, "I am happy that we were able to lend our time and talent to the City of Duluth. We had a hand in the creative development of this project and are reminded of that every time we see the playground from our conference room."
